

Intern Name: Reem Dasa

Competency checklist for group patient education

- Good introduction - Intern describes what audience will hear.
- Clearly stated objectives serve to motivate audience; introduction describes why they need the information.
- Speaker establishes credibility; describes credentials; experience
- Speaker establishes rapport with the audience, conveys warmth, concern, respect for individuals, and interest. Makes reference to self in a way that promotes rapport.
- Concepts presented clearly, in a logical sequence, at a comprehensible pace; and at audience level of comprehension.
 - √ Speaker relates concepts to the audience's areas of interest; Examples clarify rather than distract. (Yes)
 - √ Group consensus of understanding gained before moving on to the next concept. (Yes)
 - √ Smooth transition from one medium to another. (use of video screen)
 - √ Literature and visual support rather than detracts from the key concepts. (yes)
 - √ Eye contact with the audience. (Yes)
 - √ Posture and body language: relaxed; facing the audience; no distracting movements. (a little nervous at first, but pulled through and presented well with good interaction with the audience)
 - √ Voice is audible; quality is pleasant. (Yes)
 - Inappropriate comments are handled tactfully. (Did not experience)
 - √ Audio Visual equipment is handled smoothly.
 - √ Audience is encouraged to be involved. (good back and forth dialogue)
 - Questions are repeated before answering. (can improve upon)
 - Inappropriate questions are rephrased to fit the needs of the session. (Did not experience)
 - √ Questions are answered unambiguously. (Yes)
 - √ Requests for individual advice are answered in a way that contributes to group understanding of key concepts. (Questions asked were for general group)
 - √ Conclusion summarizes information covered. (Yes)
 - √ Session starts and ends on time. (Yes)
 - √ Which concepts were not adequately covered? (Covered Content well)

RD rating and comments in support of rating: S

Rating of satisfactory: overall presentation went well with good eye contact, audience discussions, and presentation of content in a clear and concise manner once Reem overcame her nervousness which will lessen over time.

Intern Comments:

RD Signature: Walter Wanas, RDN/LDN

Date: 09-05-2025 _____